While shopping I met up with someone I knew from the computer club where I teach. I noticed a brace on his right wrist and asked about it. Weak wrists. I asked if I could pray. I put my hand in his and spoke complete healing over his wrist. For all muscles tendons and nerves to be healed and for all pain to go. Thank you Jesus for allowing me to meet him while shopping.

Man I had prayed over the phone the previous week was at the meeting. When I had prayed with him he was dealing with asthma and copd. He had just come back from the doctor who examined him and declared he was fine with no issues in his lungs at all. Thank you Jesus.

Laid hands on a woman with bursitis in her left hip. She was in pain. I had her place her hand on the place where the pain was. I commanded bursitis to leave and for all pain to go. I had her walk away from me. When she turned around all pain was gone. Praise Jesus.

Man was in pain in his hip. Doctors say he needs a new hip. I asked him who he was going to believe the doctor or the word of God. He said God. I told him Jesus was going to give him a new hip. I placed my hand on his hip and commanded a creative miracle, a new hip. And I commanded all pain to leave. I told him to walk across the room and return. He was using a cane and when he returned cane was not needed. All pain was gone. A while later he was on the dance floor with no pain and no cane. Later we found out he was also dealing with COPD. I placed my hand on his chest and commanded new lungs and for COPD to be gone. He was able to take deep breaths after that. Thank you, Jesus.

Sherri found out that the woman he was with had pancreatic cancer and was also in a lot of pain. We had her put her hand where the pain was and I covered her hand with mine. I commanded the cancer out of her body and for all pain to go. I had her walk across the room and when she returned there was no pain. Praise Jesus.
