I was with a man with Parkinson's and was able to talk to him about God. I asked if he believed God could heal him. He replied he did not have the faith to believe that. I told him I did; that I had the faith. I testified about some of the people I have seen healed of all kinds of things and asked permission to pray for him. I laid my hand on his shoulder and commanded all infirmity to leave his body, for Parkinson's to go, and for his memory to be restored. In Jesus name. As I was leaving, I told him I believed he would get better. He replied that he hoped I was right.

His unbelief might win rendering him no worse off than he was before we prayed.
